

ADIA JEAN PAM

With over 10 years of events management experience, Adia Pam is a logistics and operations guru. Her meticulous attention to operational systems and incredible talent to conceptualize, plan and oversee the onsite execution of events provides a thorough and precise service to Liz D, Events' clients. Adia uses her trademark skills of problem solving, creativity, and flexibility to help clients produce corporate events and meetings.

Considered a natural leader with exceptional interpersonal and organizational skills, clients feel confident when Adia is the event manager. Adia pays attention to the details but always focuses on the big picture.

When she's not planning or organizing, Adia loves and appreciates spending time with her family. Best known for her kindness and always being the "hostess with the mostess", Adia can't get enough of hosting gatherings at her home for friends and family! It's not surprising that Adia was drawn to event planning with her entertaining nature.

Adia strongly believes, "everything happens for a reason, and it's not always your place to understand why." Live life everyday because it's so amazing!
